

A comprehensive response to Calvinism

ARE YOU ELECT?

Are you chosen?

Who are the elect?

Are there any, really?

Does God really pick who gets saved?

Do we have free will?

Is God's will always done?

More provides:

A simple to follow introduction to the subject.

Unconditional predestination commonly named Calvinism is seen:

To begin with Augustine of Hippo

A teaching new to the Church after 400 years

All the major bible passages covered

Romans 9 is explained in detail

Paul's teaching of conditional predestination is expounded out of Romans 8

God's knowledge of future events is discussed:

With no evil in God, the beginnings of evil is a pointer to the limits of God's knowledge

Multitude of "proof passages" are shown out of context

TULIP picked apart

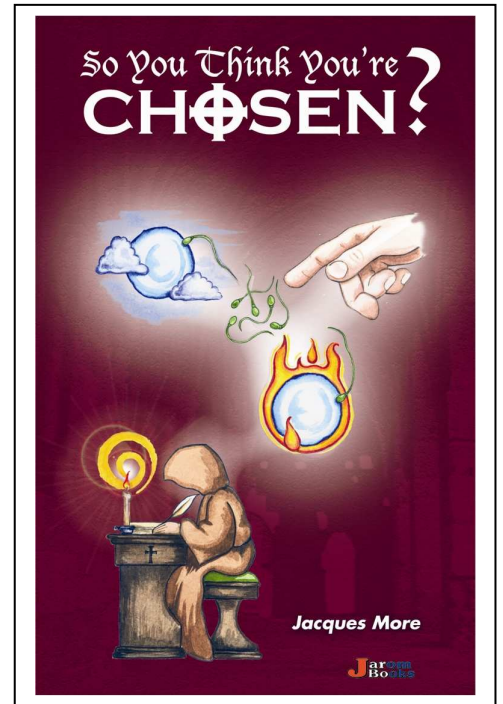

A full account of the places is given where EKLEKTOS can be found in the Septuagint (LXX) - the bible version Jesus and Paul quoted - in the New Testament this word translated "elect" or "chosen" is thus seen as mistranslated when "quality" was the meaning read in the LXX.

Bias in bible translation with reference to this doctrine demonstrated.
